CARBON, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1932

$2.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE

TO ELIMINATE GOV'T DEFICIT

Readjusting its system of financing to meet emergent conditions the provincial government in the budget brought down in the legislature last Thursday afternoon, purposes, by reducing expenditures by about $1,600,000 over 1931 and by imposing new taxation not only to eliminate the estimated deficit of about $400,000 for 1931, but, at the end of the fiscal year, March 1932, to establish a surplus of $149,200.

Total revenue for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1932, is estimated at $16,322,844.22 while expenditure is estimated at $16,673,144.22, thus leaving a surplus of $149,200.

Revenue will be increased by the following means:

By levying an income tax, estimated to yield $1,374,000.

By a continuation of the present contribution from salaries of civil servants and University of Alberta staff, estimated to yield about $200,000.

Reinstatement, previously announced of the former scale of motor licenses and by increasing the scale of charges for truck licenses, estimated to yield $600,000.

Increasing taxes on corporations by a general increase of ten per cent in the tax, fees or licenses paid by the insurance, elevator, express, telegraph and miscellaneous companies, estimated at $62,420; by an increase of ten per cent in the railway mileage tax; a general increase in the present taxation of banks, of approximately $23,000, and an increase in the taxation of the trust, loan and gas companies. In addition the government will recommend re-establishing the old scale of charges under the Amusement Tax Act, exempting, however, tickets of 10 cents and under.

Additional levy will be recommended on the gallonage tax on beer.

Special taxes paid by corporations will be considered in estimating tax under the Income Tax Act.

RATE ON COAL IS EXTENDED

Extension for one year has been granted on the special rate of $6.75 a ton on shipments of Alberta coal to the Ontario Market, according to word received by Howard Stutchbury, Alberta trade commissioner.

Mr. Stutchbury stated that approximately 30,000 tons a year in the past three years had been moved under this rate. He said that on his recent visit to Ontario he found a steadily growing sentiment in favor of the use of Alberta fuel.

Long Years Ago

(Gleaned from the Files of the Carbon News eleven years ago this month)

Alex Reid is shipping a car load of cattle to Calgary this week.

The following left Tuesday for Acme on a bonspiel contest: H. Evans, W. Leitch, H. Thorburn, F. Poxon, F. Morrison, D. Heath, T. Ramsay and Chas. Burnett.

Mr. McKinnon has just completed his building on Paradise avenue.

It is reported that the 'Greasy Spoon' has passed away. "Unwept, unheard and unsung." Why not a cenotaph on 'Spion Kop'?

We understand that Tom Laing has purchased a fruit farm near Kelowna, B.C. Stan Carney has rented Mr. Laing's farm west of Carbon.

Mr. Tom Johnson has purchased a house in town, on Aberdeen Avenue.

Messrs. Fuller and Harper have disposed of their butcher business to Mr. Francis Owen.

RHUBARB VIES WITH APPLE IN FAVORITE PIE CONTEST

The old favorite apple pie stands in danger of temporarily losing its premier berth at the top of the pie-eating industry with toothsome rhubarb outliving it in popularity. The first car load of this year's hothouse rhubarb from the Fraser Valley in British Columbia reached the Prairies recently, carrying delicious filler for many thousands of pies. Fruit distributors express the belief that the importation of rhubarb in carload lots, undertaken this year for the first time, will lower the cost of this vegetable.

INDIAN RUNS DESPERATE RACE OVER FROZEN TRAIL

After a frantic race by dog team across the frozen expanse of Lake Winnipeg, taking three days and the better part of three nights, six-year-old John Boulanger was rushed over Canadian National railways from Hodgson, Manitoba, to Winnipeg, in desperate effort to save his life. The boy is an Indian from the reserve at Berens River, on the east shore of Lake Winnipeg, and he was attacked by a team of fierce and hungry sled dogs. His head and neck were badly lashed before the dogs were driven off and, it was evident that his condition was critical so the boy's father sped across the frozen lake on a 100-mile trip with the little form wrapped in blankets on the sleigh. John James is now in the hospital where his life will probably be saved through his father's heroic dash to civilization.

ALBERTA NEWS

The requisition for the town and school of Three Hills has been announced at $19,400 for 1932, or about the same as last year.

John Kochish Hungarian section man was caught in a slide near Meusiter, on the C.N.R., and was buried alive. The body has been recovered.

Word was received that the federal and provincial government grants to the Calgary exhibition this year will be only $1500, instead of the $8000 that is usually received.

Olds is keeping up its reputation as a big shipping point for everything in agricultural products. On the livestock shipping days of last week over 400 head of hogs were consigned to market besides loads of cattle from the various local farms. Ten cars of greenfeed were also loaded.—Olds Gazette.

A national advertising campaign, chiefly through newspapers, to acquaint the people of Canada with home-grown fruits and vegetables will be undertaken by the Canadian Horticultural Society.

Cessation of Canada's western air mail service is feared, information already being received that the office of the meteorological station at Calgary was to be closed on March 31.

The town council of Bassano recently appointed a committee to investigate the possibility of interesting the Calgary gas company, or any other corporation in drilling a well at that point, to supply gas to the town.

The price of wheat the past couple of weeks has risen steadily and is now more than six cents above the price three weeks ago.

Although the residence of Jack White of Turner Valley, was blown to pieces last Tuesday afternoon in a gas explosion, both Mrs. White and an infant child escaped serious injury.

Leaking gas from pipes underground near the house escaped and exploded, ripping the house to pieces. Mrs. White suffered burns to the face and hands, but a mattress from one of the beds was hurled over the baby's crib, thus saving the infant's life.

In a recent news letter of the Alberta Prohibition Association the following facts are made known:

The petition was laid before the Legislature on Monday afternoon, February 15th. The petition complies with every detail of the Direct Legislation Act.

Practically every name on the Petition was legal. The search showed that: two names were found on two different petitions; Five people signed who were not British Subjects; ten wished to have their names taken off the petition and seven disputed signing. There were two doubtful names. Every other name was found to be that of a duly qualified voter as at July 15, 1931.

The letter goes on to state: "The question is now before the Legislature. They must either pass the Legislation or refer the question to the electorate by referendum. The Petition does not ask for a vote. That is the option of the Government."

The publisher of a small town newspaper was trying to get the general store owner to advertise.

Merchant—I've been in this town for thirty years and every man, woman and child knows where I am and what I sell. I don't need to advertise.

Publisher—Is that so? Tell me how long the Methodist church has been here?

Merchant—Fifty years, I believe. Why?

Publisher—Well, don't they still ring the bell every Sunday morning?

Municipal Elections

H. Offer Elected to Municipal Council For the Year 1932

At the Municipal elections held in the Municipal District of Carbon No. 278, on Saturday, February 27th, all last year's councillors were returned for another year with the exception of C. G. McMann, who was defeated at the polls by Harold Offer.

In Division 2 Gottlieb Ohlhauser was returned by a majority of 13, over Edward Schell.

In Division 3 W. H. Levins was returned with a majority of 31 over R. D. Barnes.

In Division 4 a new member was elected to the municipal council when Harold Offer defeated the retiring councillor, Chas. G. McMann, by a majority of 28.

The new council of the Municipal District of Carbon will consist of the following councillors:

Division 1—S. N. Wright; Division 2—Gottlieb Ohlhauser; Division 3—W. H. Levins; Division 4—Harold Offer; Division 5—H. H. Crowell; Division 6—G. H. Webber.

THE LITTLE BLACK HEN

Said the little red rooster, "Gosh all hemlocks, things are tough; Seems that worms are getting scarcer and I cannot find enough."

What's become of all those fat ones is a mystery to me;

There were thousands through that rainy spell; but now where can they be?"

The old black hen who heard him, did not grumble or complain.

She had gone through lots of dry spells and had lived through floods of rain; So she flew upon the grindstone, and she gave her claws a whet.

As she said, "I've never seen the time there weren't worms to get."

She picked a new and undug spot; the earth was hard and firm.

The little rooster jeered: "New ground—that's no place for a worm."

The old black hen just spread her feet and dug both fast and free,

"I must go to the worms," she said. "The worms won't come to me."

The rooster vainly spent the day, through habit, by the ways,

Where fat round worms had passed in

HOCKEY CLUB DANCE FRIDAY

The biggest and best dance of the season is being planned for Friday night of this week (March 4th) and will be under the auspices of the Carbon Hockey Club. All arrangements have been completed and The Albertans have been engaged to play the music on this occasion.

Already a good crowd is assured for the dance, for over forty tickets have been sold around town, and there is the country and surrounding district to draw from besides.

The hockey boys need your support in order to end the season with a clear sheet, and your patronage is solicited.

ALBERTA TO FLOAT $5,000,000 ISSUE OF 15-YEAR BONDS

Raising by way of a loan a sum not exceeding $5,000,000 in 15-year debentures at 6.75 per cent is provided for by The Loan Act, 1932, introduced, debated by the Legislature as a whole and in committee and given Royal assent within two and one-half hours at last Wednesday's sitting. The bill was introduced when the House met at 3 o'clock. At 5:30 the Lieutenant-Governor gave assent to the measure.

Hon. R. G. Reid, Provincial Treasurer, explained that the proceeds of the loan or that portion of it amounting to $3,650,000 would be used in the public service, for covering any debt of the province on open account; paying floating indebtedness; carrying on public works authorized by the Legislature; satisfaction or discharge of obligations and other purposes authorized by the Legislature.

In addition, $1,350,000 would be used for the provincial telephone system; covering of debt on open account; paying floating indebtedness and satisfaction or discharge of telephone obligations.

The minister said Alberta was the first prairie province to float a loan since last June, and the interest rate, although high, was not the highest the province had paid.

The loan has been placed through a large group of financial houses with a smaller group acting in a managerial capacity.

The Imperial Economic Conference

The outstanding event listed on the Canadian national calendar for 1932 is the Imperial Economic Conference which will open at Ottawa on July 18. The deliberations of this conference, the decisions it may reach or fail to reach, yes, even the spirit manifested within the conference, will have far-reaching effects not only upon Canada and the British nations of the world, but upon all nations.

Because this is true, the people of Canada will follow the proceedings of the conference with an interest surpassing in its intensity that usually displayed by them in the sessions of their own parliament. It is, in a sense, a parliament of the Empire that will be in session, and while its conclusions will have to be confirmed and ratified later by each individual parliament in Great Britain and the Dominions, it is safe to say that once the conference itself has reached unanimity, its decisions will be accepted by all.

On the other hand, should the conference fail in its avowed object, should it prove as abortive of results as the London conference of 1930, the outcome may possibly be very disastrous; in fact, in such an event, it would have been better if there had been no conference. British people everywhere entertained high hopes of the conference of 1930 in advance of its sittings, and their disappointment over its almost complete failure was correspondingly great, their only consolation being the decision reached to meet again and make another try for success.

All political parties in Canada are sincerely desirous that the Ottawa conference should succeed where the London conference failed. We believe the same can be said of all political parties in Great Britain and the other Dominions. If this united will to succeed is persisted in, if it becomes intensified as the opening date of the conference approaches, if the determination of the masses of the people that the conference shall succeed is manifested everywhere, then success will be achieved.

That such a feeling and desire now animates the people of Western Canada is indicated by the proposal made in the Saskatchewan Legislature that all parties in that Assembly should unite in framing and unanimously adopting a resolution setting forth the views of their people as to the policies which Canada should present to the conference, thus, so far as Saskatchewan is concerned, eliminating all partisan contentions. The suggestion goes even farther, namely, that all the other Western Provincial Legislatures should follow the same course. In a word, the suggestion is that so far as the Western Provinces of Canada are concerned they should, in advance of the conference, reach common ground in regard to matters of policy in the sphere of Empire trade, as the interests of the West may be affected thereby, and acquaint the Ottawa Government of its conclusions.

Great Britain is to be represented in the conference by a new National Government representative of Conservatives, Liberals, and a section of Labor; Australia will be represented by a new Government representative of a combination of political groups. It is well, therefore, that the national viewpoint of Canada, as represented by political groups, should thus be ascertained and presented to the Canadian Government.

Admittedly the difficulties to be overcome, the problems to be solved, are many and great. The national interests of each component part of the Empire have to be recognized, while the combined interests of all are being worked out. There must, therefore, be a willingness to give and take, to compromise, to reach common grounds of understanding, rather than to adopt inflexible attitudes. Fortunately for the ultimate success of the conference this fact appears to be more generally recognized and accepted than heretofore.

It is fortunate, too, that in manufacturing circles in Eastern Canada there is everywhere in evidence a willingness to go some way at least in the direction of more encouragement for the sale of British-made goods in Canada in return for preferences in the Old Country markets for those products which constitute the great bulk of Canada's export trade. Taken all in all the omens appear to be favorable to a successful outcome of the conference's deliberations.

It is also well that the move for unanimity in the matter of Canadian policy in the conference should originate in these Western Provinces. No part of Canada stands to gain more, or to lose more, than does the West. For example, it is universally recognized that the success of the Hudson Bay route depends upon the development of a large import trade from Britain through the port of Churchill. An absence of such import trade means that the export of grain and other Western products will be strictly limited because a one-way rail and steamship traffic can never succeed. It is economically impossible, too expensive, because without two-way traffic vessels put on the route, rates on both railway and such ships as do operate will, of necessity, be too high to insure success.

This is but one aspect of the subject, small, perhaps, in relation to the whole subject of Empire trade, but very vital nevertheless to Western Canada. It is because of just such aspects, however, that a unity of Canadian opinion is so essential before the conference begins its work. It is to be hoped that such unity will be established and find expression around the conference table.

Fifty Million Gas Masks

France Will Ensure Every Citizen Against Gas Attacks

Fifty million gas masks have been ordered by the French Government for civilian use, it was learned officially.

The masks, to be manufactured during the next two years, will be fitted against the deadliest gases developed since the World War. They will insure immunity for ten hours after which the chemical canisters can be changed.

The masks were ordered by the Ministry of the Interior for the protection of the civil population in case of a gas attack. It is intended by the French Government to have enough gas masks on hand to guarantee every citizen protection.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis or stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with peptic or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestines.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little Bisurated Magnesia and not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bisurated Magnesia, to sweeten and settle an acid stomach. Your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bisurated Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

To Protect Forests

New Machine For Constructing Fire Lines Is Invented

A new machine has been invented to aid in fighting forest fires. It is nothing more than a powerful tractor with a wide plough fixed in front. The plough is used for constructing fire lines to prevent the spread of forest fires. It can make a furrow fifteen inches wide and will throw out the dirt sixteen inches on either side, making a fire line almost four feet wide. It will accomplish in one hour, work that would keep ten men busy for a whole day.

Time Has Tested It.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil has been on the market upwards of fifty years and in that time it has proved a blessing to thousands. How Railway Fights Weeds

English Company Finds Spraying Poison From Trucks Effective

Weeds are the railwayman's enemy as well as the gardener's. If left alone they would choke the permanent way as effectively as in like circumstances, they would do our flower-beds and gravel paths. The British Southern Railway has made an effective weed-killing train by coupling two old tenders together and fitting them with spray pipes and tanks. A special form of liquid weed-killer is used, and the spray pipes have an effective range of about ten feet.

Cost Of Stamp Commission

The cost of the Stamp Commission which investigated trading in grain futures is the subject of questions placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by A. L. Beaubien (Lib. Provencher). Mr. Beaubien asks the total cost of the commission, amounts paid the three commissioners for both fees and expenses, and amounts expended in fees for lawyers engaged by the Government.

Clean Seed For Farmers

Hon. Mr. Buckle Announces Plan For Cleaning Wheat In Relief Area

The Honourable W. C. Buckle, Minister of Agriculture, announces plans for the cleaning of wheat supplied to farmers in the relief area of Saskatchewan.

The stocks in local elevators will be distributed insofar as they are satisfactory and farmers will take the wheat home and clean it or they may arrange with custom cleaning outfits to clean it. Some of these may be operated by private individuals and some by municipal councils. An alternative is to have it cleaned by the local elevator or milling company.

The cost of cleaning the wheat is included in the price and those cleaning it themselves can claim a rebate from the Saskatchewan Relief Commission of 2½ cents per bushel.

When a farmer is unable to clean it himself he will make his own arrangements for getting it cleaned and the Relief Commission will pay to the cleaner a rate not exceeding 2½ cents per bushel for the quantity of wheat cleaned. The charge will be based on the quantity of uncleaned wheat (excluding commercial dockage), put through the cleaner.

The operator of the cleaning machine will be required to submit to the Relief Commission satisfactory evidence of cleaning. Proper forms for this purpose can be obtained from the local relief officer.

The Relief Commission will only accept responsibility for cleaning charges on wheat supplied by the Relief Commission.

Any cleaning for which the Relief Commission pays must be satisfactory to the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, whose representatives will make periodical inspections of cleaning operations as soon as the wheat is released for delivery to farmers.

The German State Railway is experimenting with self-propelled freight cars, each powerful enough to pull one trailer, for local traffic.

Rings On Douglas Spruce Indicate That Ancient Tree Has Lived For 3,200 Years

Man's intelligence has discovered that various objects, animate and inanimate, reveal in their own bodies records of the ages, but that his own body is not similarly endowed, and when discovered presents evidence of the most disputable nature. Not so with trees. A tree is a self-revelation, as is told in an address appropriately delivered by Professor F. E. Lloyd before a section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association at Montreal. The tree speaks in the language of botany, and to those conversant with the tongue, discloses its age. The rings on a Douglas spruce on this continent, for instance, prove that it has lived 3,200 years; and probably nothing else that is living and is not vegetable, so similarly indisputably survives for thousands of years.

Prof. Lloyd reverts to what has happened in the world since the seedling of that ancient spruce germinated. He sees Abraham leaving Ur of the Chaldees to start his pilgrimage. He sees the Christian religion being founded. The storms that have buffeted that tree in vain have blown on a host of wars, migrations and upheavals. The leaves on it have come, and gone, and come again, endlessly, but dynasties that believed themselves implanted everlastingly have been cast down into the dust.

Man, the family of man, has been unable in his body to disclose the story of his endurance. His age has always been problematical, and some agree who was first, or how old were the oldest. Man might, like a horse, have his age told by his teeth, but what he now has more often indicates a stage in the dental art. His periodicity has been set by the lowness of his brow, but low-brows are claimed by high-brows to be as indicative of man in the present as they were of him in pre-glacial eras.

No such uncertainty beclouds the age of the venerable Douglas spruce. Its birth certificate is in its trunk. Its rings make a weather chart of the centuries. The narrow rings tell the seasons which were short and cool; the wide rings record the years of warmth and sunshine. That old tree tells the story of the weather for three thousand years.

Man's body does not reveal even the weather of the ages, and tells less than do the trees whose pulpy substance is despised for its impermanency and woodiness of intellect. Man's age can only be inferred from the buried bones and trinkets he leaves strewn in his primitive habitat. The early history of the inhabitants of British Columbia has been told by Professor Hill Tout through what he has dug out of their middens at Vancouver. But as remotely of the past as are the utensils picked up from where the cave-woman threw them, they are but of yester-year in the lives of the magnificent old Douglas spruce.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Canadian Wheat Flour

May Launch Campaign To Demonstrate Value For Bread Making

A campaign to demonstrate to the people of Europe the value of Canadian wheat flour for bread making, is under consideration of the department of Trade and Commerce, H. H. Stevens, Minister of that department, told the supply committee of the House of Commons.

The details of the scheme are being worked out and the announcement was perhaps premature as definite plans were lacking. He had been greatly encouraged by similar campaigns carried out in the past and he was of the opinion that advertising might play a leading part in a return to prosperity.

Mr. Stevens referred to the recent campaign to further the interests of Canadian grape growers. The government had contributed financially, and there had been remarkably successful results. A campaign to popularize the Canadian apple abroad and to stimulate interest in Europe in Canadian sea foods and in Canadian cattle, had met with marked success.

More than 120,000 radio receiving sets of three or more tubes each were manufactured in Austria last year, more than five times as many as were made four years ago.

Many Instruments Of War

Submarine Not Only Menace To Human Lives

On the eve of the World Disarmament Conference, the submarine again has made tragic appeal for some cessation in the arming of nations against nations. The sinking of the M-2 in the English Channel raises the total of men lost in peacetime operation of submarines during the last ten years to 613.

Of course, this is only a part of the price paid in human lives for the privilege of preparing for war. The submarine is only one instrument of warfare. In the United States alone fatalities with military airplanes have reached half that figure during the same period. The total for 'planes in all nations must exceed it. Experiments with poison gases and other weapons have added their quota.

But the prolonged tragedy of submarine disasters has evoked a special outcry against undersea craft. It is also said that they are a stealthy weapon. But is an airplane dropping bombs or gases at night upon a civilian population any less furtive? It is argued, too, that submarines have no peacetime usefulness. Have ten-inch guns any greater utility.

This is no defense of the submarine. But just at this time when the nations are thinking about putting away some of their weapons, it may be well to recognize that other instruments of human slaughter may be no less hateful in war and useless in peace.—Christian Science Monitor.

Farmers Will Benefit

Trading In Hogs On The Basis Of Official Grades

The new hog grading regulations put into effect by promulgation in the "Canada Gazette" of January 30 extend the provisions for trading in hogs on the basis of official grades in such a way as entirely to eliminate flat-price trading. Hogs sold from farmer or other producer right down the line to the final packer or processor must be traded in on the basis of official grades. This ensures to the farmer full benefits of the agreement with the packing industry whereby a premium of one dollar is paid for all hogs grading "Select Bacon." The regulations also provide for that premium for quality, which is rightly his, passing back in larger measure to the original producer. Complete information as to grades and the procedure to be followed can be secured on application to the Department at Ottawa.

Turning back the pages of Canadian political history to the days of Macdonald, Tilley, Tupper and Blake, R. S. White, veteran Conservative member of the House of Commons, recently spoke before the Canadian Club of Ottawa. Mr. White, who sat in the parliamentary press gallery a half century ago and looked down from that vantage point on the political giants of the period, gave it as his considered opinion that the average ability of the House of Commons today is as high as it has ever been.

Fifty years from now, he said, people will be talking of the political giants of today, just as we now do of those who trod the political stage in 1882.

Mr. White, who knew politics and statesman not only as a journalist, but also as a member of the House of Commons, told the Canadian Club that he was "degraded" from the press gallery to a seat on the floor of the House in the year 1888. He represented the Ontario constituency of Cardwell.

At present he represents Mount Royal. Mr. White delighted his listeners with many anecdotes of political figures who have passed into history. Just in passing, he expressed the view that "one of the vices of our House of Commons" is the long speech.

People might agree or disagree with the policies of Sir John A. Macdonald, but all must admire his talents, Mr. White said. Sir John, in his opinion, was "the daddy of them all." The old Conservative leader was not what would be called a good speaker. It was his personal popularity which was his great asset. Mr. White told how Sir John would come back and gossip with the "back benchers" when quiet reigned in the House of Commons.

It had been his pleasure and privilege to know Sir Wilfrid Laurier well. "A charming man and a great orator," he called the Liberal leader. He spoke of Sir Charles Tupper who had "actually foamed at the mouth" in the course of one of his fiery exhortations to the House of Commons. He referred to Sir Leonard Tilley, Hon. A. Mackenzie, Sir John Thompson, Hon. William Patterson, Sir Richard Cartwright and others who stand out from the pages of political history. He quoted Hon. William Patterson as saying once, when dealing with the question of patronage, that "all other things being equal, a Liberal should have the job."

"And," added Mr. White to the amusement of his audience, "all other things were equal, and the Liberal got the job."

Speaking of Hon. Edward Blake, Mr. White said that in power and in respect to pure intellect no abler man ever sat in the House of Commons. Sir Richard Cartwright, he said, was frequently very sharp and bitter in parliament. "I almost think he disliked Conservatives," said Mr. White, "and that he regarded them as a different breed of dog altogether."

Macdonald College Celebrates

General view of Macdonald College Buildings St. Anne de Bellevue, Que.

Sir William C. Macdonald.

(4) Macdonald Engineering Building, McGill University.
(5) Macdonald Hall, Guelph, Ontario.

(2) Chemistry Building, McGill University.
(3) Physics Building, McGill University.

The Twenty Fifth Anniversary of Macdonald College with particular emphasis on Founder's Day, February 10th, focuses attention on this institution and its founder, the late Sir William C. Macdonald who built, equipped and endowed the entire institution at an expense of more than six million dollars.

Founder's Day which this year, marks the 101st Anniversary of the birth of the late Sir William C. Macdonald, founder of the Macdonald Tobacco Company and Canada's greatest benefactor, once more draws attention to the tremendous scope of his benefactions to McGill University with which the Macdonald College at St. Anne de Bellevue is affiliated. These benefactions total more than twelve and one half million dollars, $10,690,165 of which was given during life. While the Faculty of Science and of Scientific Agriculture was possibly the dearest to Sir William's heart, every faculty of the McGill University benefited during his life and after. The Faculty of Law received $232,500. The Conservatorium of Music $300,000. The Faculty of Medicine was bequeathed $500,000. The McCord Museum Building was purchased at a cost of $142,000, while the Macdonald Park site now occupied by the Stadium, and the Student's Park was purchased at a cost of more than one million dollars and presented to the University. Student's activities came under the beneficent scope of Sir William as the McGill Union testifies. Sir William spent $219,000 on its erection and equipment. In addition to the wonderful equipment at St. Anne de Bellevue, those buildings at McGill which bear the Macdonald name and those donated by the late Tobacco knight, stand today, as the greatest monument to his memory.

Macdonald College was founded by the late Sir William in 1907. It was designed to include three schools—one for agriculture, one for household science and one for normal teacher training. The gift included the grounds, almost 800 acres in extent, the complete equipment and endowment. The college itself was incorporated with the University of McGill as the Faculty of Agriculture, although the teachers' training feature is possibly his best known contribution to life in the Province of Quebec.

Other sections of the country have benefited by the late Sir William's benefactions, the Macdonald Institute and the Macdonald Hall at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, being among the most important.

Close Judicial Districts

Four judicial districts of Saskatchewan will not operate this year, as no appropriations have been provided for them by the government for the fiscal year 1932-33. They are: Gravelbourg, Leader, Maple Creek, and Wynyard. In the fiscal year now closing 23 districts operated, and the closing of the four for which no appropriation is provided will mean a saving in expenditure of $30,870.

Saskatchewan Leads In Mental Hygiene

National Committee Expresses Hope That All Large Hospitals Will Follow Lead Given By Hon. Dr. Munroe

The report of the activities of the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene for the period 1930-31, just issued, makes special complimentary reference to the work being done by Saskatchewan's Minister of Public Health, the Hon. F. D. Munroe, in connection with the establishment of a division of Mental Health in Saskatchewan.

"The progressive Minister of Health," says the report, "is taking a statesmanlike interest in mental hygiene and has created a division of mental health. It will fall to this division to work out policies and programmes in regard to mental institutions, clinics and the application of mental hygiene principles in education, social work, administration of criminal justice, etc. The Minister of Health has also made possible the organization of psychiatric wards in connection with the Regina General Hospital. It is to be hoped that all large general hospitals throughout the country will follow the lead furnished by Regina."

During the period 1930-31 the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene has been active in all parts of Canada in the promotion of mental hygiene progress. The outstanding pieces of work include a survey of the Province of Prince Edward Island; organization of a post-graduate centre in psychiatry in Toronto; integration of mental hygiene into the school system of Montreal; activities leading to the enlargement of the mental hospital at Brandon, Manitoba; arrangement in collaboration with the Federal Census Bureau to secure uniform statistics from mental institutions of the country; publication of weekly articles in two hundred newspapers; demonstration of the value of social work in the parole of mental patients in British Columbia; establishment of a Division of Mental Health in connection with the Department of Public Health of the Province of Saskatchewan; organization of psychiatric wards in connection with the Regina General Hospital; educational publicity; continuation of important research activities at four leading Canadian universities and the knitting of mental hygiene activities through co-operative efforts between the National Committees of Canada and the United States.

C. N. R. Branch Lines

$648,000 To Be Expended On Construction Work This Year

A total of $648,000 will be expended on branch line construction for the Canadian National Railways this year, that amount being authorized in the 1929-1932 programme, according to a return tabled by R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, in the House of Commons. A number of the branch lines are completed, but work this year will be confined to five, of which two are in Alberta, one in Saskatchewan, one each in British Columbia and Ontario. The programme follows: Bulwark (Alberta) easterly, $15,000; Brantford (Ontario) cut-off, $312,000; Hemaruka-Scapa (Alberta), $115,000; St. Walburg (Saskatchewan) Bonnyville, $35,000; Lulu Island (B.C.), $171,000.

Expenditures in connection with the programme up to December 21, 1931, amounted to $17,610,769. During the year the sum of $4,378,050 was spent. The amount authorized in the schedule, plus the customary 15 per cent., totalled $33,061,350.

A number of the constructions have been discontinued for the time being.

DECIDEDLY SMART DAY DRESS FOR MATRONS OR ANYONE WHOSE FIGURE NEEDS SLIMMING

You'll love this dress. It is black canton-faille crepe silk.

It has the lines which have been proven by experience are becoming to the heavier figure. It also has the new modish sleeve flounce and is quite one-sided about its white crepe rever, that provided so much smartness and charm.

Some may like the rever to tone with the dress, which is also very smart and a bit more practical.

It is especially fascinating in soft royal blue shade crepe silk. Printed crepe silk is attractive in this model with the rever and sleeve flounce of plain crepe in blending tone.

Style No. 672 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 3/4 yards of 39-inch material with 1/2 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Price of pattern 25 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MARCH 6

JESUS WASHES HIS DISCIPLES' FEET

Golden Text: "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."—Matthew 20:28.

Lesson: John 13:1-15.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 52:13 to 53:6

Explanations and Comments

Supreme Love and Supreme Treachery, verses 1 and 2.—Before partaking of the Feast of the Passover, Jesus was fully aware of the death awaiting Him, and the washing of the disciples' feet was a last illustration of His uttermost love for his own—His disciples with whom He had lived so long and so intimately. Side by side with His Lord's great love for them, the Evangelist places the treachery of Judas Iscariot, who at the supper fully made up his mind to betray Jesus.

Supreme Power and Lowliest Service, verses 3-5.—In later years Peter wrote this admonition: "All of you gird yourselves with humility to serve one another." Was he not thinking of the girded towel about his Lord and the lowly service performed on that last night that Jesus accompanied with His disciples? The consciousness of power, mission and destiny did not deter Jesus from this humblest of tasks which He set Himself; rather did it urge Him to undertake it. He arose from the table, poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet.

"No impulse is too splendid for the simplest tasks; no task is too simple for the most splendid impulse." —Phillips Brooks.

Blundering Love, verses 6-9.—"Dost Thou wash my feet?" Peter exclaimed when his Master came to him. In the Greek the words "su mou"—thou, of me—are in emphatic contrast at the beginning of the sentence. "What I do thou knowest not now; but thou shalt understand hereafter," Christ's answer, is partly explained in verses 12-17.

"Thou shalt never wash my feet," impetuous Peter cried out. Recall Matthew 16:22. "It is the old strange mixture of self-conceit and self-disgust: the self-conceit of old, which under the shadow of Hermon had called upon him so stern a rebuke when he had said, 'That be far from Thee, Lord; this shall never be unto Thee'; the self-disgust which of old, in the boat on the Sea of Galilee, had flung him on his knees, with that great cry wringing from his yearning heart, 'Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord.'"—F. W. Farrar.

"I love Simon; I have made pretty much the same blunders as he has, only the publicity has not been given to them."—G. W. Bull.

"If I wash thee not, thou has no part with Me," no part in my fellowship and kingdom, was Jesus' answer. Peter did not fully understand, but he was wholly loyal to his Lord. His revulsion of feeling was complete when he cried, "Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands and my head."

Gasoline Tax

Net Revenue Shown For Saskatchewan For Year 1931

The Saskatchewan gasoline tax resulted in a net revenue of $1,254,058.20 being received into the provincial treasury in 1931, figures made public in the legislature disclosed.

The total amount collected through the tax was $2,458,675.29, of which $1,148,528.59 was rebated in addition to $56,088.50 paid out by way of commissions for collections.

In addition, it was stated by Hon. A. C. Stewart, Minister of Highways, that 91,276 automobile licenses were issued in 1931, 15,678 licenses for trucks, 41 for public vehicles, 110 for freight vehicles, 306 for motorcycles, 570 for delivery vehicles, 2 for pedal bicycles with motor attachments and 1,107 for trailers.

A Good Investment

Big Business In Orient Developed From Few Gifts

About a quarter of a century ago the Standard Oil Co. gave away without cost a large number of kerosene oil lamps and stoves in China and throughout the Orient. This was designed to increase the demand for kerosene oil. It was a good investment. Today tankships operated by the Standard Oil and the Shell Oil Companies carry many millions of gallons of kerosene to Oriental countries annually. While electric lighting is common in port towns, throughout the Orient the interior cities and towns as well as the rural districts still employ kerosene oil as their principal means of lighting.

Government and Municipal Co-Operation

Necessity Of Economy In Order To Safeguard Solvency Of Municipalities

Hon. Howard McConnell, Provincial Minister of Municipal Affairs for Saskatchewan, has addressed a letter over his personal signature to the various municipalities pointing out the necessity of close co-operation between Saskatchewan Government and the municipalities. He points out the paramount importance of safe guarding the solvency of the municipalities, by pursuing a course of the most rigid economy. He pays a tribute to the public spirit of certain municipalities, pointing out that there have been instances where tax collections in districts where crops have not been good, have exceeded tax collections in districts where crops have been reasonably good. In some districts which have been dried out the financial statements submitted have given the greatest encouragement. Regret is expressed that in some municipalities more favored in the way of better crops financial conditions are not what they should be.

The Minister expresses the desirability of the employment of capable secretaries and paying them reasonable returns for the important services rendered. He urges the utmost economy in preparing the budget for the coming year, and suggests that only the most necessary expenditures be undertaken. He asks for a copy of the forthcoming budget with an indication of the proposed savings, and offers the earnest co-operation of the Government, the Minister, and the Department.

Tuberculosis Affects Indians

Resistance Less Vigorous Among Those Residing In Remote Reserves

Resistance to tuberculosis is less vigorous among the Indian population of Canada residing in the remote reserves than elsewhere, a report of the superintendent of Indian Affairs indicates. Near white settlements the ravages of this disease can be controlled; and Indians engaged in agricultural pursuits show increasing resistance. The Department of Indian Affairs declares in regard to the latter that "it would not be impossible to practically stamp out tuberculosis on several reserves, and the measures required to this end would not be unduly costly."

Of the Indians in the less accessible reserves, however, the report says that they are not showing "any satisfactory tendency towards increased resistance to tuberculosis, and their location and manner of life makes it difficult, if not impossible, for the department to give them effective aid in this respect."

Still Some Differences

There are still some differences between the sexes, despite the desperate efforts to eradicate them all and we never saw a man earnestly endeavoring to ascertain by a prolonged study of the outside of the envelope whom the letter came from, instead of opening it and finding out at once and for sure.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

MARGARET PEDLER

He was looking, not at her but beyond her, as she spoke, as though his thoughts dwelt with some past memory. His expression was inscrutable; she could not interpret it. Presently he turned back to her and though he smiled there was a deep, unfathomable sadness in his eyes.

"I've had one unforgettable lesson," he said quietly. "The Tormarin temper—the cursed inheritance of every one of us—has ruined my life just as it has ruined others before me."

The words seemed to fall on Jean's ears with a numbing sense of calamity, not alone in that past to which they primarily had reference, but as though thrusting forward in some mysterious way into the future—her future.

She was conscious of a vague foreboding that that "cursed inheritance" of the Tormarins was destined, sooner or later, to impinge upon her own life.

At night, when she went to bed, her mind was still groping blindly in the dark places of dim premonition. Single sentences from the afternoon's conversation kept flitting through her brain, and when at last she slept it was to dream that she had lost her way and was wandering alone in a wild and desolate region. Presently she came to a solitary dwelling, set lonely in the midst of the interminable plain. Three wretched-looking scrubby little fir trees grew to one side of the house, all three of them bent in the same direction as though beaten and bowed forward by ceaseless winds. While she stood wondering whether she should venture to knock at the door of the house and ask her way, it opened and Geoffrey Burke came out.

"Ah! There you are!" he exclaimed, as though he had been expecting her. "I've been waiting for you. Will you come into my parlour?"

He smiled at her as he spoke—she could see the even flash of his white teeth—but there was something in the quality of the smile which terrified her, and without answering a word she turned to escape.

But he overtook her in a couple of strides, catching her by the hand in a grip so fierce that it seemed as though the bones of her fingers must crack under it.

"Come into my parlour," he repeated. "If you don't, you'll be stamped forever with the mark of the beast. It's too late to try and run away."

Jean woke in a cold perspiration of terror. The dream had been of such vividness that it was a full minute before she could realize that, actually, she was safely tucked up in her own bed at Staple. When she did, the relief was so immeasurable that she almost cried.

The next morning, with the May sunshine streaming in through the open window, it was easier to laugh at her nocturnal fears, and to trace the odd phrases which, snatched from the previous day's conversation with Burke and Tormarin and jumbled up together, had supplied the nightmare horror of her dream.

But, even so, it was many days before she could altogether shake off the disagreeable impression it had made on her.

CHAPTER XIV.

A Compact

"You don't like Jean Peterson."

Burke made the announcement without preface. He and Judith were sitting together on the verandah at Willow Ferry, where their coffee had been brought them after lunch. Judith inhaled a whiff of cigarette smoke before she answered. Then, without any change of expression, her eyes fixed on the glowing tip of her cigarette, she answered composedly:

"No. Did you expect I should?"

"Well, hang it all, you don't hold her accountable for her father's defection, do you?"

A dull red crept up under Mrs. Craig's hollow skin, but she did not lift her eyes. They were still intent on the little red star of light dulling slowly into grey ash.

"Not accountable," she replied coolly. "I look upon her as an unpleasant consequence." She bent forward suddenly. "Do you realise that she might have been—my child?" There was a sudden vibrating quality in her voice, and for an instant a rapt look came into her face, transforming its hard lines. "But she isn't. She happens to be the child of the man I loved—and another woman."

"You surely can't hate her for that?"

"Can't I? You don't know much about women, Geoff. Glyn Peterson stamped on my pride, and a woman never forgives that."

She leaned back in her chair again, her face once more an indifferent mask. Burke sat silent, staring broodingly in front of him. Presently her glance flickered curiously over his face.

"Why does it matter to you whether I like her or not?" she asked, breaking the silence which had fallen.

Burke shifted in his chair so that he faced her. His eyes looked far more red than brown at the moment, as though they glowed with some hot inner light.

"Because," he said deliberately, "I'm going to marry her."

Judith sat suddenly upright.

"So that's the meaning of your constant pilgrimages to Staple, is it?"

"Just that."

She laughed—a disagreeable little laugh like a douche of cold water.

"You're rather late in the field, aren't you?"

"You mean that Blaise Tormarin wants her?"

"Of course I do. It's evident enough, isn't it?"

Burke pulled at his pipe reflectively.

"I should have thought he'd had a sickener with Nesta Freyne."

"So he had. But not in the way you mean. He never—loved—Nesta."

"Then why on earth did he ask her to marry him?"

"Good heavens, Geoffrey! You're a man—and you ask me that! There

Nerves Kept Her Awake

Mrs. Scheer Says She Sleeps Like Log Since Taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Feels So Refreshed In Morning.

"I can truthfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for all those suffering from a rundown state of nerves," writes Mrs. Scheer, of Prince Albert, Sask. "My nerves were in such a rundown condition that I could not sleep at night. Many nights I could not lie in bed at all, and would get up and walk the floor. A friend told me her mother was in the same condition and had found relief by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I have taken four boxes, and can now sleep like a log, and I feel so refreshed in the morning. I do my own housework and am a dressmaker besides."

The reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are so effective in such cases is that they create new rich blood, which supplies to the nerves the very elements they need. Equally effective for all rundown or anaemic conditions. Try them. At your druggist's. 50c a package. 275 are heaps of men who ask women to marry them on the strength of a temporary infatuation, and then regret it ever after. Luckily for Blaise, Nesta saved him the 'ever after' part. But—eyeing him significantly—"Blaise's feeling for Jean isn't of the 'temporary' type. Of that I'm sure."

"All the same, I don't believe he means to ask her to marry him."

"No. I don't think he does—mean to. He's probably got some high-minded scruples about not asking a second woman to make a mess of her life as a result of the Tormarin temper. It would be just like Blaise to adopt that attitude. But he will ask her, all the same. The thing'll get too strong for him. And when he asks her, Jean will say yes."

"You may be right. I've always said you were no fool, Judy. But if it's as you think, then I must get in first, that's all. First or last, though"—with a grim laugh—"I'll back myself to beat Blaise Tormarin. And you've got to help me."

Followed a silence while Judith threw away the stump of her cigarette and lit another. She did not hurry over the process, but went about it slowly and deliberately, holding the flame of the match to the tip of her cigarette for quite an unnecessarily long time.

At last:

"I don't mind if I do," she said slowly. "I don't think I—envy—your wife much, Geoffrey. She won't be a very happy woman, so I don't mind assisting Glyn Peterson's daughter to the position. It would make things so charming all round if he and I ever met again"—smiling ironically.

Burke looked at her with a mixture of admiration and disgust.

"What a thorough-going little beast you are, Judith," he observed tranquilly.

COMFORT for COLICKY BABIES

... THROUGH CASTORIA'S
GENTLE REGULATION

The best way to prevent colic, doctors say, is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste. But remember this: a tiny baby's tender little organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged. This is just the time Castoria can help most. Castoria, you know, is made specially for babies and children, it is a pure vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. For years it has helped mothers through trying times with colicky babies and children suffering with digestive upsets, colds and fever. Keep genuine Castoria on hand, with the name:

Wm. H. Fletcher

CASTORIA
CHILDREN CRY FOR IT

She shrugged her thin, supple shoulders with indifference.

"I didn't make myself. Glyn Peterson had a good share in kneading the dough: why shouldn't his daughter eat the bread? And anyhow, old thing"—her whole face suddenly softening—"I should like you to have what you want—even if you wanted the moon! So you can count on me. But I don't think you'll find it all plain sailing."

"No"—sardonically. "She'll likely be a little devil to break. . . . Well, start being a bit more friendly, will you? Ask her to lunch."

Accordingly, a day or two later, a charming little note found its way to Staple, inviting Jean to lunch with Mrs. Craig.

"I shall be quite alone," it ran, "as Geoffrey is going off for a day's fishing, so I hope Lady Anne will spare you to come over and keep me company for an hour or two."

Jean was delighted at this evidence that Judith was thawing towards her. She was genuinely anxious that they should become friends, feeling that it was up to her, as Glyn's daughter, to atone—in so far as friendliness and sympathy could be said to atone—for his treatment of her. Beyond this, she had a vague hope that later, if she and Judith ever became intimate enough to touch on the happenings of the past, she might be able to make the latter see her father in the same light in which she herself saw him—as a charming, lovable, irresponsible child, innocent of any intention to wound, but with all a child's unregarding pursuit of a desired object, irrespective of the consequences to others.

"After a little wearing, a lovely green voile—an imported dress—lost colour so completely that it was not wearable. A friend who had admired it asked me why I wasn't wearing it any more. On hearing the reason she advised dyeing it and recommended Diamond Dyes. To make a long story short, it turned out beautifully. I have a lovely new dress that really cost just 15c—the price of one package of Diamond Dyes."

"I have since used Diamond Dyes for both tinting and dyeing. They do either equally well. I am not an expert dyer but I never have a failure with Diamond Dyes. They seem to be made so they always go on smoothly and evenly. They never spot, streak or run; and friends, never know the things I dye with Diamond Dyes are redyed at all!"

Little Helps For This Week

"Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth."—Matthew v. 5.

He that is down need fear no fall,
He that is low no pride;
He that is humble ever shall
Have God to be his guide.

I am content with what I have,
Little be it or much;
And, Lord, contentment still I crave,
Because Thou savest such.
—John Bunyan.

He, and he only, possesses the earth as he goes toward heaven, by benign humble and cheerful, and content with what his good God has allotted him. He has no turbulent, repining, vexatious thoughts that he deserves better; nor is he vexed when he sees others possessed of more honour or more riches than his wise God has allotted for his share. But he possesses what he has with a meek and contented quietness. God has two dwellings,—one in heaven, and the other in a meek and thankful heart.—Izaak Walton.

Dust Causes Asthma. Even a little speck too small to see will lead to agonies which no words can describe. The walls of the breathing tubes contract and it seems as if the very life must pass. From this condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy brings the user to perfect rest. It relieves the passages and normal breathing is firmly established again. Hundreds of testimonials received annually prove its effectiveness.

Word Growing In Use

"World" is a word constantly growing in use—world court, world bank, world trade conferences, world disarmament, world peace—and made possible only through better world understanding.

Distemper responds quickly to Douglas' Egyptian Liniment. Keep a bottle handy in the stable.

GAINED 1 1/2 lb. A WEEK

Kruschen Stopped it—
Now 11 lbs. Down

"I started to take Kruschen Salts a month ago, to reduce my weight—after trying several other ways. I am pleased with the results, as from 224 lbs., I have lost 11 lbs., which I think is a move in the right direction. I feel better all round, and am hoping to get down to 168 lbs. I am 52 years of age, and 5 feet 8 inches, and was putting on weight consistently at the rate of half-a-pound per week, so you see I have cause to be thankful for Kruschen Salts."—J. W.

An over-stout person is an auto-intoxicated (or self-poisoned) person whose internal organs are failing to expel from the body the waste products of digestion. Allowed to accumulate, this waste matter is turned into layer after layer of hideous fat.

The six salts in Kruschen assist the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day the waste and poisons that encumber the system. Then, little by little, that ugly fat goes—slowly, yes—but surely, and you feel so wonderfully healthy, youthful, and energetic—more so than ever before in your life!

FREE TRIAL OFFER

If you have never tried Kruschen—try it now at our expense. We have distributed a great many special "GIANT" packages which make it easy for you to prove our claim for yourself. Ask your druggist for the new "GIANT" 75c package.

This consists of our regular 75c bottle together with a separate trial bottle—sufficient for about one week. Open the trial bottle first, put it to the test, and then, if not entirely convinced that Kruschen does everything we claim it to do, the regular bottle is still as good as new. Take it back. Your druggist is authorized to return your 75c immediately and without question. You have tried Kruschen free, at our expense. What could be fairer? Manufactured by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Estab. 1756). Importers: McGillivray Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

More War Than Peace

3,153 War Years In the Last 3,421 Years Of World's History

There have been 3,153 "war years" in the last 3,421 years of the world's history, according to statistics published by the Society of International Law.

The society's report said that so far as is known there have been only 268 "peace years," but incomplete records of this evolution of nations make it difficult to determine definitely whether even those years were entirely peaceful.

You can cook 3 vegetables AT ONCE in the same saucepan

by using
CANAPAR

Do each vegetable up in its own bag of Canapar Cookery Parchment.

There won't be any odor, not even from cauliflower. All the food value and flavor will be retained. And you use only one burner turned low for cooking. The flavors will not mix!

Do the same with boiled or steamed fish. You'll be delighted with the results. No fishy odor in the kitchen. No saucepan or kettle to clean up. When roasting meat, line your pan with Canapar. Fats and juices won't burn. No more scraping or scouring of the pan afterwards.

You can use Canapar repeatedly by simply rinsing it off and hanging up to dry. It doesn't absorb odors. Makes a perfect dish cloth. Silky, strong, and doesn't spread lint. Made by the makers of the famous PARASANI Heavy Waxed Paper in the Green Box.

Special Offer

Most grocers, druggists and department stores have Canapar on sale, but if yours hasn't, send this coupon direct to the makers and we'll give you a new and unique booklet entitled "Leftovers," containing one hundred recipes as a bonus for your trouble.

Appleford Paper Products, Ltd.,
Hamilton, Ontario.

Enclosed find 25c for which please send me one full size package of Canapar Cookery Parchment and your 100 recipes for "Leftovers."

cently appeared in the Montreal Witness:It is a question whether since the days of John Wilkes such an assault has been made on the parliamentary liberties of the people as was made on Monday by Mr. Bennett and the resonant chorus of his irresponsible entiourage in refusing to Mr. Woodsworth the right to bring in a bill. The name of Mussolini was quoted by a former Minister of Justice, Mr. Lapointe, as being unable to parallel the outrage upon constitutional liberty. When leave was asked of the House and it was denied, we supposed Mr. Woodsworth was asking for something out of order which required indulgence but no such transcendence of rules is alleged. It seems to have been a flat declaration on the part of this fascist majority that an independent member and his constituents have no rights which a steam roller majority is bound to respect. According to British Constitutional practice, leave to introduce a bill is accorded a member usually without any discussion. That takes place at the second reading. Little wonder that veteran members of both parties gasped when Mr. Bennett, with incredible arrogance and usurpation of the privileges of dictatorship shouted "No" when the Speaker formally asked the House to grant leave to introduce the bill. Even Mussolini preserves the appearance of loyalty in a better way than that.THE LITTLE BLACK HEN

squads back in the rainy days;
When nightfall found her supperless,
he growled in accents rough,
"I'm hungry as a fowl can be; conditions sure are tough."He turned then to the old black hen and said "It's worse with you,
For you're not only hungry but you must be tired too.
I rested while I watched for worms,
so I feel fairly tert;
But how are you? Without worms, too?
And after all that work."The old black hen hopped to her perch and droptd her eyes to sleep,
And murmured in a drowsy tone,
"Young man, hear this and weep;
I'm full of worms and happy for I've dined both long and well,
The worms are there, as always—but
I had to dig like hell."—The Travell-
